FREELANCE

Sneaker Cart (Client from US - Fiver):
- As a React developer, I designed and developed a responsive dashboard for inventory management.
- I prioritized user experience, ensuring the dashboard was easy to use and navigate. Using React allowed for efficient updates to the dashboard, providing real-time information to users.

Sport Bar(Client from India) :
- As a front-end developer, I utilized React to create a user-friendly and responsive interface for a web application.
- In addition, I utilized Axios to call APIs from the back end, allowing for efficient data transfer and seamless communication between the front end and back end of the application.
- Integrated Socket.io to develop a live pricing feature in a restaurant's digital menu, allowing customers to view up-to-date prices of dishes and promoting transparency in pricing.

Chatwani Impex (E-commerce Website - Client from India):
- As a web developer, I created a dynamic e-commerce website to showcase a client's portfolio.
- I also incorporated various front-end libraries and frameworks to enhance the website's functionality and user experience.
